Jenn has an active civil litigation practice and regularly represents clients in Delaware state and federal courts, including the Complex Commercial Litigation Division – CCLD- of the Delaware Superior Court.

She practices in two principal areas – complex mass tort litigation, in which she has represented companies in the industrial manufacturing and pharmaceutical industries; and insurance coverage litigation. Jenn’s cases often involve coordinating with multiple parties, sometimes a dozen or more, and she is adept navigating the nuances of multi-party litigation as well as the “ins and outs” of Delaware practice and procedure, which her out of-state counsel find very valuable.
